LAST SERMONS BY DR. JENKENS

Before Going to His New Charge, Was Preached Sunday.

HEARD BY BIG CROWDS

Young Pastor Given Up By His Church With Universal Regret.

Rev. Millard A. Jenkens preached his farewell sermons here Sunday morning and evening at the Baptist church. The evening sermon, which concluded his services as pastor, was a discourse of great power and eloquence, a fitting finale to Dr. Jenkens' pastorate. The subject was "Demons and Demonology," divided into three parts, fallen angels, demons and Satan himself.

Dr. Jenkens will leave today for

Athens, Ga., where he has accepted a call to the First Baptist Church there. He came here from Dublin, Ga., Nov. 16, 1906, and during the period he has been here, a little more than two years, he has admitted about 300 members, the present membership of the church being about 800. His resignation was accepted with the greatest reluctance and he leaves here to the infinite regret of all his members and carrying with him the good will of the whole city. No pastor in the city has ever had so large congregations from Sunday to Sunday as he had during the entire time he was here.

Dr. Jenkens is unquestionably one of the ablest young men of his denomination in the South, and as a popular preacher, has but few equals.

SERIOUS ACCIDENT

Howard Brame Sustains Fracture of His Only Arm.

Howard Brame, the popular layman, was kicked by a mule Thursday and his arm broken in two places. Some years ago Mr. Brame had one of his arms mangled in a thresher and amputation was necessary. The fracture this time is a painful one, but will not prove more serious than to completely disable Mr. Brame for some time. The injury was attended to by a surgeon and he is now getting along nicely.

SLIGHT SHOCK OF EARTHQUAKE

Windows Rattled and a Meteor Was Seen to Fall.

A HOLIDAY SHAKE-UP.

Out in Montana There Was a Sure Enough Shock That Cracked Walls.

A distinct earthquake shock was felt in this city and surrounding country Sunday afternoon about three o'clock.

Windows of houses were rattled and in some cases houses were shaken perceptibly. Parties who were out of doors in the country report that a meteor was seen to fall across the western sky at the same instant the shock was felt.

No damage was done and the quake was so slight that it did not attract general attention.

Severe Shock in Montana.

Butte, Mont., Dec. 28.—A Miner dispatch from Virginia City, Mont., last night stated that at 4:30 o'clock that afternoon that section was shaken by the severest of a series of seismic disturbances that have been going on for more than a week. The electric power and light plant was put out of commission and the city was in darkness at night. Much alarm exists. During the past week Virginia City has experienced more than thirty earthquakes in which the earth movement was very pronounced.

The tremor cracked buildings, threw down plaster and dislodged dishes from shelves and tables.

WILL CONSIDER CALL.

Dr. Garrett Invited to Visit This City Next Sunday.

A letter was read at the Baptist church Sunday from Rev. R. B. Garrett, of Portsmouth, Va., saying he would consider the call for pastor and give a definite answer by Jan. 3, 1909. Dr. Garrett said the minister would have to be laid before his church and his doctor would be consulted about the change of climate for his wife, who is an invalid. The probable benefit to his wife's health would be the strongest influence in accepting the call, as he was meeting with much success in his work in Portsmouth and his church was united in his support, and expected him to continue the work he had carried on there for ten years. A resolution was adopted by the church inviting Dr. Garrett to come to Hopkinsville and look over the field and preach next Sunday, which would probably aid him in arriving at a decision.

A rising vote renewing the call was taken, the vote being unanimous.

WILKINS-BRUFF.

Fairleigh B. Wilkins and Miss Annie Bruff were married last night at the home of Mr. Marlow Johnson, near the city.

The bride is a talented and attractive young lady and has been teaching in the county school for some time. For several months she has been boarding at Mr. Johnson's and teaching a school near the city.

Mr. Wilkins is in the newspaper business, being business manager of the Messenger. Both young people are quite popular.

CORNELL-PENDLEY.

B. R. Cornell and Miss Maud Pendley, of near Mannington, were married at the home of the bride's brother, Granville Pendley, Sunday.

STEWART-CAVANAUGH.

The marriage of Beverly G. Stewart, a young farmer living a few miles west of the city, on the Canton pike, and Miss Cornelia Evelyn Cavannaugh, daughter of M. C. Cavannaugh, of Bainbridge, occurred at the home of the bride Sunday. Rev. W. T. Miller performed the ceremony.

SEAY-BRYANT.

A marriage license was issued Saturday to Ellis Gordon Seay and Miss Sallie Bryant.

GARY BUTLER.

[Communicated.]

Mr. Robert S. Gary and Miss Georgia Butler were united in marriage Dec. 21, at Maple Terrace, the beautiful home of Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Myers, the bride's sister. The bridal party entered the parlor to the strains of Mendelssohn's wedding march, played by Miss Lillian Bush.

The parlor was handsomely decorated with palms, evergreens and similes plants and was lighted with candles. The only attendants were the bride's sister, Miss Virginia Butler, as maid of honor and Mr. Gregory as best man. After receiving congratulations they were invited to the dining room, which was beautifully decorated and in which was a table that groaned under its load. Dinner was served in courses. The bride received many handsome presents, too numerous to mention.

SHOT HIMSELF THROUGH HEART

Roy Rogers Young North Christian Farmer Ends Life With Bullet.

JUST FROM CHURCH.

Telephoned His Mother Before Firing The Fatal Shot.

Roy Rogers, of the Consolation neighborhood, North Christian, committed suicide Sunday afternoon about 1 o'clock by shooting. He was about 22 years old, unmarried, the youngest son of Mr. Press B. Rogers, and made his home with his father.

The young man attended church at Palestine Sunday morning, returning home after services. The family was away from home and when he arrived at the residence he telephoned his mother, who was at a neighbor's, to come home. Mrs. Rogers told him to come over and take dinner with them. The son then said that he did not want any dinner, but again asked his mother to come home. Shortly after dinner Mrs. Rogers returned home and found her son dead. He was lying across the bed. Young Rogers had used his father's pistol, which contained only one cartridge, and shot himself through the heart. The ball passed through the young man's body and imbedded itself in the wall of the building.

It is reported that Rogers, while returning home from church, said to an acquaintance that he intended killing himself. He left no note concerning his intention of self-destruction, however.

The body was interred in the family burying ground yesterday afternoon.

Results Now a Tie.

A recount is on in Todd county to settle the race between the Rev. Henry Petrie and W. F. Glenn for jailer. The first count gave Glenn one majority. Recounts were asked for in eleven precincts and these gave Petrie a gain of 4 and Glenn 3, making the result a tie. There are five other precincts that have not been recounted yet.

CLOWING IN THE YULE.

Quint Christmas Carol of an Old Town in Denmark.

Blowing in the Yule from the grim old tower that had stood 800 years against the blights of the North sea was one of the customs of the old town that abide, however it fares with the Nisse; that I know, says Jacob A. Riis in his great book "How the Poor Live." "Old Tom" in the Christians Church at sunset, while yet the people were at breakfast, the town band clattered the many steep ledges to the top of the tower, and up there in fair weather or foul—and sometimes it blew great gales from the wintry north—there would be a hymn, so that no one was forgotten. They always began with Luther's sturdy challenge, "A Mighty Fortress Is Our God," while down below we listened devoutly.

There was something both weird and beautiful about the faraway strains in the early morning air of the northern winter, something that was not of earth and that suggested to my child's imagination the angelic songs on far Juden hills. Even now, after all these years, the memory of it does that. It could not have been because the music was so sweet, for it was made up of small step-dancers and artisans who thus turned an honest penny on festive occasions. Incongruously enough, I think the official town mourner, who bade people to funerals, was one of them. It was like the burglar-hounds, the colonel of which I thought him, and a general because of the huge bearskin he trailed when he marched at the head of his men—the was the town tailor, a very small but very martial man. But whether or no, it was beautiful. I have never heard music since that so moved me. When the last strain faded away came the big basses with their deep voices that sang far out over field and heath, and our Yule was fairly under way.

TO HELP INJURED AUTOISTS.

First Aid Society of Automobile Girls Formed in Denver.

A society for first aid to injured automobileists has been formed by girls of Denver's younger social set. They have decided that when auto accidents become so frequent two men should know what to do when members of their auto parties are hurt. It is suggested that the society may become national in its scope.

Among those who are attending the lecture given by Dr. William Edmonson of the First Baptist Church, daughter of the Pittsburgh millionaire, Mrs. Harold Kountz of the New York family of bankers, Miss May Kistler, Miss Edith Thomas and others.

The young women are learning to reduce sprains, bind up fractured limbs, make simple dressings, stop the flow of blood by scientific methods. The idea suggested itself when one of the girls sustained a sprained ankle. It did not receive proper treatment at the time, and as a result the girl suffered severely.

NOVEL TRAINING STUNT.

Baseball Catcher Chases Jack Rabbit to Keep in Condition.

Keeper of the condimentary traps to run a new stunt being tried by Catcher George Gibson of the Pittsburgh Nationals at his home, near London, Ont. Barney Dreyfuss recently received a letter at Pittsburg from Gibson, which reads:

"I am writing you from Cleve [sic] the other day. All we writes about hunting. He says the quails are a thick down where he is that you have to cut a path through them when you go hunting. Nothing like that up here. I have seen a lone jack rabbit but this season, and I have been chasing him to keep in condition. I have not got him yet. He is the limit for speed. One jump and he lands in the next county. He would make a good trainer. If I can catch him alive I will take him to Hot Springs and let the boys get in condition by chasing him."

PRESIDENT'S HUNTING BOOTS

Footgear for African Trip to Be Made Over Case of His Feet.

President Roosevelt has ordered his hunting shoes. They really are boots reaching almost to the knee, and the measurements by which they are to be made are the most complete ever received by a Brockton (Mass.) factory.

Orders were given for four pairs of boots, one to fit the president, and the president's feet were carefully measured. In all nearly fifty measurements were taken. By them plasters casts will be made of the president's feet and legs, and the shoes literally will be built on these. The shoes which must be absolutely waterproof are to have an extra double sole, into which the uppers are to be sewed with waterproof stitches.

London's Motor Road Entrance.

It is proposed to build a motor approach road to London a distance of fifteen miles, with a width of forty to sixty feet. The highest gradient is one in thirty. It will cost $200,000 a mile.

The new naval base at Pearl harbor, Hawaiian Islands, will be completed in 1912 and will have cost $5,000,000.

AUTO HEATING DEVICE.

Missouri Uses a Special Boot and Register Over the Exhaust Pipe.

H. A. Fowler of Kansas City, Mo., is an autoist who believes he is being compelled to drive in the cold weather, and to accomplish this in the cold weather he has arranged a device on his car which is easy to reproduce on nearly any car and which is calculated to prove a boon to the motorist, who heretofore has never been able to keep comfortably warm while driving.

Mr. Fowler explains that, like many another winter driver, he has felt the need of something to take the place of the cumbersome lap robe, which interferes with the operation of the foot brake and clutch pedal and which makes driving difficult an accelerator always in his hand. He has, however, intended to meet this need, and Mr. Fowler declares that it has more than fulfilled his expectations in practice.

The device consists of a simple register such as is used in a house and especially fashioned to button down on the front of the car and to both sides. It does not interfere with the driving of the car and yet serves every purpose of the regular robe.

BEST CHRISTMAS GIFT.

The Daisies for Giving, Says Elizabeth N. Phillips—Our Need of Love.

If I were the nation's Santa Claus I would on my trip across the world on Christmas eve, 1908, drop into every heart the gift of "the spirit of giving." This is the spirit of the self-sacrificing, patriotic and the generous. It is the spirit of the Philanthropic Santa Claus association, in a symposium, "If I Were a National Santa Claus," in the December number. I would visit each home where love and affection had grown cold and kindle the fires anew. I would see that every orphan had not only a pair of shoes to wear, but also a coat to keep him warm. I would see that a father's love to warm his little heart. I would see that he had not only a coat to protect him from the winter's cold, but a sheltering arm that might take the place of a father's in protecting him from the blasts of a freezing world of thoughtless people.

Among those who are attending the lecture given by Dr. William Edmonson of the First Baptist Church, daughter of the Pittsburgh millionaire, Mrs. Harold Kountz of the New York family of bankers, Miss May Kistler, Miss Edith Thomas and others.

The young women are learning to reduce sprains, bind up fractured limbs, make simple dressings, stop the flow of blood by scientific methods. The idea suggested itself when one of the girls sustained a sprained ankle. It did not receive proper treatment at the time, and as a result the girl suffered severely.

We are the "nation's Santa Claus," the "spirit of giving" would exist in every heart every day, and there would be no desires for great riches and power, no employer grinding down the wages of his employed, no public official using his trust for private gain and no religious creeds and doctrines save that embodied in Christ's words, "Do unto others as you would have them do unto you." These feed my lamb.

And if it were in my power to give, I would leave not only in every city, street and home, but in every heart, a living, loving Santa Claus, and the world would awaken on its Christmas day in paradise, with love as king.

HARD WINTER PREDICTION.

Massachusetts' Gobble Forecasts Thirty-five Snowstorms.

For the fifth time in a half century Charles H. Steele, a veteran cobbler of Brookfield, Mass., and a noted weather prophet, has aroused the interest of thousands of farmers and followers throughout western Massachusetts by announcing his weather predictions for the coming winter. Steele's record for storm predictions is 30 years. He says that the winter of 1908-9 will show a total of thirty-five. His rule is as follows:

To the date of the moon on the date of the month in which the first storm occurs add the date of the month in which the storm occurs, and the number of the day of the week. The total gives the total number of storms.

Novelties for Christmas Supper.
An unusual little supper time Christmas surprise which was served to a family party last year was this, says the Decatur Deleatiner. Pinky binkies—under-blister—so called because known as "quick dinner"—had been made just after dinner. While they had had ample time to cool, they were still very soft and fresh. The top of each little biscuit was pried off with a fork and as much of the inside removed as could be easily done without disturbing the shape of the outside. At the joint moment, the remains of the turkey were mixed with celery and a few capers, and, with mayonnaise dressing which had been made the day previous, a delicious salad mixture was ready in a few moments.

DO YOU FEEL CHILLY, THEN FEVERISH AND ACHIE OVER?

FEEL WORN-OUT, BLUE AND TIRED? HAVE YOU A FRESH COOL, WITH FREQUENT HACKING COUGH? SENSATION OF SORENESS IN THE CHEST OR BACK?

Don't let your case run into bronchitis or some other obtrusive and dangerous malady. The very best medicine to take in such a case is Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It contains no alcohol or dangerous drugs. It contains that rare combination of many medicinal roots and herbs which are the secret of its success. It works, restores the circulation, assist the appetite and digestion, and consequently the health. It is the best medicine for the reason people look happy once more after taking it—they feel like living again. It is the best medicine for the lungs, for the heart, for the kidneys, for the bowels, in their arteries is full of that life-giving quality-rich, red blood. The blood is purified.

Nerves and neuralgia are only the indication that the nerves are not fed on the proper diet. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is the natural restorer. It tones up the organism and invigorates the body. It is the best medicine for one of its necessary constituent principles of which it is in need.

This preparation is made of tasso, root, bark, root, with galbanum and sanguineous stomachs, and is extremely effective in restoring tone and vigor to the entire system. It cures those diseases of the American plants and roots, therefore purifying the body. It perfectly harmonizes. One tablet for a child, three for an adult. One tablet for a sailor, three tiny granules for a child.

Break off a cold. One very hot reason why it becomes so tenacious of rain-down, and is so obstinate, is that it is the first throws out the poisons through the liver and kidneys. Then it begins to attack the lungs, and the heart, and the brain, and making gods, rich, red blood.

I have been a sufferer from indigestion and heart trouble for years. I took Dr. R. W. Mulligan of Circleville, W. Va., and have used medicines from several physicians, but nothing has relieved me. I have been to the best medical doctor in the country, and he said it was the worst spell that I ever had. I have suffered with this disease for over two months. I took Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. By the time the first bottle was gone, I felt some relief from the pain. I have since taken four bottles and have received from your manufacturer what have received from your manufacturer, and can cordially recommend it to others.

The following figures are approximately correct as to the tobacco sold by the Planters' Association and the stocks now on hand and controlled by pledges:

Sold crop of 1904.....	23,000 hds.
" " 1905.....	34,000 "
" " 1906.....	39,000 "
" " 1907.....	43,000 "

Total sales 4 years.....139,000 hds.
ON HAND.

Crop of 1907.....19,000 hds.
Pledged 1908.....100,000 hds.

Present holdings.....119,000 hds.

In view of these figures, it is not surprising that the agitation of the "no crop for 1909" idea has been started, by the adoption of resolutions in Princeton during the conference between Mr. Ewing and the representatives of the Imperial Tobacco Company. This proposition could not have been incorporated in the resolutions, with the association leaders in Princeton, without their knowledge, and it may be concluded without their approval. It is doubtful if the Association can survive a decree of this sort, with no less than six other associations in Western Kentucky, nearly all of them committed to the loose sales policy. If Mr. Ewing commits the association to the "no crop" idea, the members of the Farmers' Union, the Society of Equity, the Farmers' Mutual, the Henderson Stemming District Association, the Owensboro Green River Association, and the Burley Association will no doubt increase their crops, just as the Planters' Association did this year while the Burley people were trying the "no crop" experiment. The folly of this policy is shown by the Government's reports of an increased crop in the country at large, much of it grown in new territory, in spite of the sacrifice made by one district to curtail the crop. If the Association continues to refuse to sell its marketable holdings until all of its damaged tobacco for which it has no buyers has been forced upon unwilling purchasers, the dissatisfaction is likely to become widespread. The association, if properly managed, will become a permanent blessing to its members, but arrangements must be made for prompt sales when crops are ready for the market. Mr. Ewing seems to be the only man who does not recognize this necessity. The association this year carried over nearly half its holdings until fall and the sales now being made are at such heavy losses that many hogheads graded at $10 to $15 originally are getting only $5 or $6, after expenses are paid. In four years the Association has sold an average of 35,000 hds. annually. It now has no tobacco than it can sell in three years at that rate, because the best customers cannot handle prized tobacco and are forced to buy in Henderson, Owensboro and Bowling Green tobacco they cannot get in Hopkinsville, Clarksville and Paducah. The Kentuckian is for the association and has heretofore been for Mr. Ewing as its proper leader, but the obstinacy of one man should not be permitted to wreck the association and drive its members into other organizations that have better

Pittsburg's municipal graft scandal is the worst on record and it bids fair to cause an upheaval of gigantic proportions. Two bankers and half a dozen councilmen are already under arrest on bribery charges and it is said that forty or fifty councilmen are liable to be caught in the net. The scandal may have a potent effect on the coming city election next February. Every faction of politics is stirred to the utmost and a flood of denials are being made by prospective candidates that they are not implicated directly or indirectly in the corruption.

The defense began the taking of testimony in the night rider case at Union City yesterday and each of the eight defendants will attempt to prove alibi. The state has made out a very strong case and the general opinion is that some if not all of the defendants will be given death sentences.

There was a good deal doing Christmas day, both at home and abroad. There were the usual number of killings, several people playing Santa Claus had their parapluies set on fire and the president of France had his whiskers pulled by a crank.

Dr. J. M. Matthews, who for many years has been president of the State Board of Health, has tendered his resignation, on account of "a little friction" in the board. Louisville physicians are urging Gov. Wilson not to accept the resignation.

success in selling tobacco. It is reported that 3,700 hogheads were sampled at Clarksville for the Regie buyers and that some of it had been sampled two or three times before, and out of that vast offering the Regie people found only 550 hogheads that they could use. If neither the Imperial Tobacco Co. nor the Regie buyers can handle the 18,000 or 19,000 hogheads left over, and render more undesirable and of less value every week, what is to become of this tobacco that has been held 15 months and is going begging at from $4 to $6 net? It seems with an object lesson like this before him, Mr. Ewing ought to listen to the petition of his own members and change a policy that every other dark tobacco association has discarded as impractical and sell the new crop loose. The Imperial Tobacco Co., it is said, will bring 5,000,000 pounds of the tobacco bought from the Stemming District Association last week at $10 to $7 for leaf, an average of $8 loose, to their factory here to work it up. This is the face of the fact that the bars of Christian county are crowded with tobacco of the stemming type that the Imperial Company will take if furnished to them like the tobacco of the Stemming District is furnished.

Why do not as others do, and sell it?

It comes to the Kentuckian from apparently reliable sources that preparations are being made to open a loose saleroom in this city next week. We do not believe this is a wise step and we hope to see the proposed enterprise abandoned. The crop of this county and adjoining counties is practically all pledged to the tobacco organizations and those who signed the agreements should live up to their pledges. We hope no warehouseman will attempt to encourage the breaking of contracts, which would be sure to create more bad feeling at a time when the city and county are rapidly returning to normal conditions.

With fascinated eyes the girl watched as the batters grew under his brush. Across the top of the board he painted in big brutal letters the words, "For Sale."

The pretty neighbor caught her breath in the crowd sentence, during and stared at her from the board. Underneath these words the man worked industriously for a little time.

While he worked the girl gazed back at the garden with tear dimmed eyes. When he had finished the man gave a little sigh of satisfaction. The girl was still looking at him again and gasped, "For Sale." It read, "This Garden, Suitable For a Factory. Apply Within to Martin Connor."

"You aren't going to nail that sign up, are you?" questioned the girl, perfunctorily to tears.

"Sure," claimed the man.

The man picked up the sign, holding it awkwardly to save his clothes from paint, and, with the bucket and brush in the other hand, again went toward the gay little summer house. He whistled as he went, but the girl, who followed, with difficulty stifled her sobs.

At the sound of the whistle the girl stopped and stared at the man.

When the pretty neighbor awoke this morning she could not think at first what sorrow was near her. Then it came to her in a jump. The garden was to be sold! She shuddered as she thought of the heartless sign and decided that she would never, never look at it again.

"You're perfectly horrid!" she cried.

"I hate you!"

The pretty neighbor, frantically dabbing at her eyes with an absurd little handkerchief, ran across the street to her own house.

A moment later she was at the winnow, peering out at the garden wall opposite. Her heart gave a little bound as the blank face of the wall met her gaze. The sign was gone.

It was a very pretty, pretty neighbor, but hated Martin shortly after. She erred in judgment, however, in this particular, for the boy in the garden was a goliath into the garden—“Oh, I knew you didn’t mean to sell your garden! You thought you’d scare me into loving you!”

The man, who had been weeding, looked up at her. He wore an old broad-brimmed straw hat, but in some unexplainable way made him seem even more strikingly handsome than ever.

“You’re wrong,” he declared slowly. “It’s sold!”

“What?” cried the pretty neighbor in consternation.

“Yes,” replied the man.

“What are you going to put up a horrid, grimy factory here?” wailed the pretty neighbor.

“Perhaps,” said the man listlessly. “I’m glad you came over.”

“Yes,” the man went on. “I’m going to get a factory here. I’m afraid I’ll have to go without saying goodbye to you.”

“I’m a brute,” said the man listlessly, holding up a picture of surprise and dismay.

“There’s nothing for me to stay here for,” he replied without animation, evidently not finding what he hoped in the girl’s face.

“I’m sorry,” said the girl finally.

She extended her hand. In silence the boy took it and she went toward the gate. When she was almost there the man called to her.

“I’m a brute,” he declared contritely, “for letting you think for a minute that I’d ever really let a factory be erected here. Since you love the garden so you’re right to know that the man who built it was my father. He will not shrub it for some time—not for the present at least.”

“Oh!” cried the girl. For a moment her face was radiant, then suddenly it went sad again.

“Wouldn’t you—won’t you come back some time and visit my father’s garden?” she asked.

“I’ll not come back,” the man replied. “It—it would hurt too much. Goodbye!”

“Good-bye,” repeated the girl and slowly went through the little iron gate, across the street to her home.

Several times during the next hour she looked at the clock and involuntarily sighed. The morning was going very fast it seemed. Faster and faster the time flew toward noon. Presently it was 10:30, then 10:45 and then 11:00 o’clock.

When the morning reached this point the pretty neighbor was suddenly galvanized into action.

“Good gracious!” she cried. Jumping from the chair where she had been endeavoring to sit, she ran to the door. “Good gracious, he may be gone and I haven’t found out where he is going!”

Without more ado the pretty neighbor raced out of the house and across the street to the little iron gate. The gate was locked! Wildly she tore around the wall to the great front door. “Please, please, open the study, darling path to the big house.”

Suddenly, as at high speed she bore around a particularly sharp curve, she plumped right into the arms of the man. The latter, when he saw that it was the pretty neighbor, dropped the suit case he had been carrying and drew her close to him. “I simply can’t bear you! I can’t do it!” he hugged her so tightly that she finally gasped for breath. However, the pretty neighbor had enough breath left to grasp a reply—a very faint reply.

“Don’t go,” she said, hurrying her head into his coat. “It’s not your garden I’m in love with. It’s you!”

Jones was a Van Dyke.

People told Jones that his youth was against him—he looked too young. If he wanted to rise rapidly in his profession he should have sought a few hundred additional years.

He started a Van Dyke. His wife watched its growth critically. She didn’t take it to him—she married a young man, not a professor. The whiskers grew and grew, and bulby looked more and more like a pirate. Wife tried to talk him out of them, but he insisted on wearing an actual necessity in his profession.

One morning Jones woke up with his chin feeling moist and sticky. He rubbed his hand over his face foliage and found it wet. Then he opened his eyes and saw his wife standing over him. “With a bottle of perfume in her hand,” Jones said, “she jumped on bed and went to the mirror. Already the soft that makes blonds to order had done its work. That primeval growth was red, yellow and maize, s’s growing corn. Jones had to wipe the dust off his razor and remove the chin whiskers.

“You’re perfectly smart,” he observed. “I hate you!”

The pretty neighbor, frantically dabbing at her eyes with an absurd little handkerchief, ran across the street to her own house.

He was greatly surprised and the class highly amused at receiving from one of the boys the unexpected answer:

BOY TORTURED BY AWFUL HUMOR

Almost Cured with Eczema—No Night's Rest for Nearly a Year—Feared Lifelong Disfigurement—All Treatments Failed and Limit of Endurance Seemed Near.

PERFECT RECOVERY IS DUE TO CUTICURA

"With the exception of his hands and feet, my son Clyde (thirteen years old) was covered with a skin disease called eczema. Physicians treated him for nearly a year without helping him any. What they did do was to increase his power, yet nothing seemed to relieve him. And I had tried many remedies, but none seemed to help, all failed. His head, face, and neck were covered with large scales which would not come off, and the skin underneath the matter would burst out and that would be worse. Many a time he looked as if he was about to die. I used to have to get him to see a doctor, and when he did go to see one, he would say, 'I am not well.' But he could pose as though he was not longer ill. I decided to try Cuticura. I bought a cake of Cuticura, and Cuticura being a registered and a bottle of Cuticura Resolvent, I used them in the evening and that was the first night for nearly a year that he slept well. He has since continued to use Cuticura, and in the morning there was a great change in the better. In about six weeks he could believe that he had ever had anything wrong with him. I tried it twice a day for six months, and it has been a complete cure, and not a scar on his body. This story may seem overdrawn, but neither would I dare to exaggerate it. Give me a writing and how he looked. Our leading physician, Dr. [redacted] recommends the Cuticura cake for eczema."—Clyde, by Cookshire Shiloh, O., June 11, 1907.

Gov. Wilson's Record.

The Owensboro Messenger in an editorial on a record of one year says the Governor, by abuse of the pardoning power, has done more to encourage the mob spirit than any other agency that has been at work in Kentucky for years. In his campaign he declared he would see to it that Powers and others accused of the murder of Goebel should have a fair trial, but early in his administration he overruled Powers without further trial, and Howard was released with him. It is well understood that pardons are awarded to Taylor and Finley at a convenient time. When Fulton French was fined $5.00 for conspiracy in the bloody Harrodsburg tragedy, Wilson remitted the fine. Numerous other criminals have been granted immunity; but his last act in commanding the sentence of the negro Hocker, at Lexington, from hanging to life imprisonment, will do more toward the encouragement of mob spirit than anything that has happened in a long time.

LISTLESS READING.

The Way to Correct This Fault and Get Beneficial Results.

"Reading can be made a much greater pleasure if you can find some way only read when they can find no other pleasure," said a Columbia University lecturer on English literature. "You have perhaps noticed that those who can so rivet their attention to the printed page are the ones who make it a point to talk about what they have read."

"That is the secret. Try to Read something that you can talk about. Do this with books as well as with papers. Soon you will notice that in reading a story you fix in your mind the things you want to relate. You get the writer's point of view, then fix upon the points he has presented."

"At the beginning your story telling will lack the completeness of the story as written, and you will notice that your shortcomings in this direction are due to listless reading. This will correct itself just to the extent of your ability to become a good reader."

DEEP SEA DIVING.

A Descent of Thirty Fathoms Marks the Limit of Safety.

The depth to which a diver can descend is in direct proportion to water, standing the pressure of the water.

Apparently a descent of thirty fathoms (180 feet) of water marks the limit of safety for even a few divers who possess the necessary physical fitness and temperament to disregard for danger beyond the averages.

Devon in deep sea diving have to be accepted with the proverbial grain of salt. It has been claimed that a diver reached thirty-three fathoms and a half while engaged in salvaging operations recently on the west coast of England, and that such an achievement is beyond the average.

A diver working on the same wreck is reported to have brought up three bars of copper from a depth of forty fathoms at the expense of his life.

An expert who has superintended a large number of diving operations has a new method of calculating the safe depth. He claims that a diver, who is capable of combating the severe strain which is brought to bear upon their physical energies for a few minutes at a depth of twenty or thirty fathoms. Many of his divers had not ventured below ten fathoms, but 352 divers employed at greater depths thirty were seriously injured, and the most fatal was in ten instances.—Harper's.

Papering Damp Walls.

An expensive and comparatively inexpensive way to paper damp walls is the following: Paint the wall with a thin wash of white lead, chalk, white bottles, etc., on both sides with asphalt varnish and fix it when dried with five-eighths inch tin ticks to the damp wall so that the smooth surface is directed toward the room and the corrugations run from ceiling to floor. Asbestos paper should be used, a six-and-a-half inch sheet should be left uncovered.

The skirting board should be covered with coarse burlap or other packing material, on which a plain covering paper and lastly the wall paper may be pasted. The skirting board should be made of pine, and the paper should have small holes of an inch in length made in the raised corrugations at intervals of ten to twelve inches before it is attached to the wall.—Architects and Builders' Journal.

In the earlier part of the season down in Maine the warm weather and the absence of snow on the ground were considerable of a handicap to the hunters, the dry leaves rendering the trails difficult to follow. The woods were quite bare, the Mule deer having been killed during the first two days.

During the first six weeks of the hunting season more than 1,600 deer and about seventy moose were shipped over the Bangor and Aroostook railroads.

There were 1,600 deer killed in the state over the 1907 figures for the same period.

Taking it altogether, the big game hunting season has turned out much better than was generally expected.

The open season for moose closed Dec. 1, and for deer it will close Dec. 15.

As usual, the wilderness has furnished its tragedies and its comedies, but fortunately the loss of human life has been small. One of the amusing cases of "mistaken identity" is that in which a Houston (Me.) hunter figured.

A report was written by a Boston friend who was there at the time.

This Houstonian, who was by no means new to the business, fired and killed a valuable colt in a clearing, thinking it was a young moose.

The affair happened in the dusk, and he did not discover his mistake until he had cut the throat of the supposed moose.

Greatly disturbed and being a conscientious man, he took all the money he had in his pocketbook, $140, and fled to the front door of the farm house where he supposed the colt's owner resided, and awoke the owner of the farm at the same time. However, he made another little mistake, however, for the owner of the slain animal lived in an entirely different house, and it was some time before things got entirely straightened out.

Another a German farmer this time, has every reason to believe that the hunting folk of the season in the Green Mountain State is on him. He had managed to entice a deer into his barnyard the day before the hunting season opened, intending to shoot him with neatness and dispatch early next morning. However, he was not a good shot, at darkbreak, and the patient deer was still there, waiting for slaughter.

The farmer's aim was a trifle too high, however, and the rife ball went through the side of the barn and killed a valuable horse.

Several deer in Maine have been killed by an angry moose and a farmer was actually gashed indoors by a moose.

A particularly aggravating case was that of two sportsmen who were pursued by a big wounded bear while out prairie shooting. While they were in a tree waiting for brush to recoil from the gun, the bear came along, and when the men saw him, they saw two large black deer and a doe not far away and distinctly heard the bellow of a moose. The sequel to this incident was that they went back next day and secured a buck and a doe while the bear was captured later that day.

While following deer tracks two hunters from Lynn, Mass., went astray in the woods and for more than twenty-four hours were without shelter or food. They had to walk around a fire all night to keep from freezing. Next day they found a cabin and the hunting party met nearly approach the typical "old west" standard, that which comes from Rangeley to the effect that the freeman of a train on the Sandy River and Rangeley Lakes railway, E. F. Vose, shot a deer from the cab of his engine, and it was a fine specimen.

Women are heading "the call of the wild" in larger numbers every year, and a goodly contingent have been in the woods this season. Some of them have had excellent luck in bringing down big game.

The antelope hunting season has its "moment" at the wind up. This time it is what to do with the cow moose.

As a result of the protective laws the female moose is increasing so rapidly in Maine in proportion to the males that even the game officials are somewhat perplexed about it and are wondering what they are going to do.

The game commissioners are relocking the streams of the state with trout and salmon.

Royalty and Race Horses.

The ownership of race horses by royalty is a very old institution. Queen Anne, although she was the mother of an enormous family, not one of whom lived to grow up, was a patron of racing. She was a great admirer of the Queen of England, George IV., who passionately fond of her, and news of what had happened at Ascot was brought to him when he was lying on his deathbed. Apart from his love of the sport, the king follows the turf because he is accustomed to see that it is a pursuit which interests a great number of his fellow subjects—London Opinion.

BRYAN CAINED IN POPULAR VOTE

William H. Hearst's Party
Polls 63,185 Votes
In All.

SOCIALISTS FALL OFF.

Populist Party Almost Wiped Out By The Poor Showing Made.

New York—The total popular vote of the various presidential candidates at the last national election was made known to-day in an official form by the filing of the last of the official votes, that of Michigan. The total shows the following:

Taft, Republican, 7,637,676.
Bryan, Democrat, 6,393,182.
Debs, Socialist, 449,453.

Chafin, Prohibitionist, 241,252.

Higin, Independent, 83,186.

Watson, Populist, 33,871.

Gilhaus, Socialist-Labor, 15,421.

Total for all candidates, 14,842.

This grand total exceeds by 341,531 the total number of votes cast in the presidential election 1904, when the grand total was 13,510,708.

Compared with that election, the candidates of the Democratic and Socialist parties increased their votes this year.

The reverse is true of the candidates of the Republican, Populist and Socialist-Labor parties. The Independence party did not figure in the presidential election of four years ago.

The biggest difference in a party vote is shown in an increase for Bryan of 1,315,211 over the total vote cast in 1904 for Alton B. Parker, the Democratic candidate. Taft received 14,190 votes more than were polled for President Roosevelt in 1904 and Debs ran 45,368 ahead of his predecessor on the Socialist ticket.

The heaviest loss is shown by the Populists, who with the same candidates registered 83,312 votes less this year than in 1904, when their total was 117,135. The Prohibitionist candidate, Chafin, ran 17,284 votes behind the 1904 mark of his party, and Gilhaus, the Socialist-Labor candidate, received only about 50 percent of the vote given previous presidential year.

FIGHTS MADE THINGS LIVELY

Negroes Had General Battle at Fidelia and Five Were Shot.

SOME OF THEM MAY DIE

Several Other Holiday Fights in Which Blood Was Spilled.

As stated in Friday's paper, the Christmas fights opened with the killing of Kirk McCoy by Eugene Ferguson, at a colored festival in the city Wednesday night. This was followed by a regular battle between two sets of negroes at Fidelia Station, near Bolivar, about 4:30 o'clock Thursday afternoon, in which five men were shot, some of them very seriously. The negroes became belligerous on the train going out of Hopkinsville and upon reaching Fidelia they left the train ready to begin fighting. No one knows just how the fight started, or what it was about, but there was soon a free fight in progress about the depot and when the smoke cleared away four negroes were lying on the ground. It is not known how many took part in the battle, but about 75 shots were fired and other weapons were used with more or less effect. One negro named Tom Sanders was hit over the head with a jug of whisky and the jug was broken and in the mix-up that followed the same negro caught a bullet in his head, but was not dangerously hurt. John Garrett was shot in the leg, like Garrett in the hand, Charlie Sanders in the back, the bullet going into his cavity, and Eugene Garrett was shot through the lungs.

Two of the negroes were too badly hurt to be taken to their homes and spent the night in Dr. Bell's office, where they were attended to.

None of them can give any very straight account of the trouble, except that all were drinking and their carousal ended in fighting and shooting. There was one good pistol, a Colt's 38, in the crowd and this pistol got in its work on Tom Sanders. Another pistol was of the Iver-Johnson make and some of the wounds were inflicted by its bullets.

All of the negroes were still alive yesterday, and three of them were out of danger.

We charge a moderate commission for selling property, no sale, no charge.

Money At Owensboro.

Tobacco deliveries in Owensboro during the past four days have been among the largest in the history of the city, especially the first and second days of the week. The deliveries on Thursday were heavy but the rush was not near as great as on the preceding days of the week.

As a result of the heavy deliveries of tobacco before Christmas there has been a large amount of money put in circulation.—Owensboro Messenger.

We have the reputation of being the quickest payers of losses.

HIGGINS & SON.

Got a Scalp Wound.

Jerry Pettus, a negro boy, was shot or hit with a pistol in Jones & Cannon's saloon on Avenue A, Christmas, by a white man named Szeinore who escaped and has not been arrested. Pettus had a slight scalp wound and could not tell whether he was shot or hit by the pistol, which was discharged either intentionally or in striking the negro's head.

IN NEW TERRITORY.

Tobacco Culture to be Taken Up in Many Tenn. Counties.

Jackson county, Tenn., raised a good deal of tobacco this year for the first time. A dispatch says:

"Never before has so much tobacco been raised here and never was the quality so good, and the prices so high. Already about $40,000 has been paid to the farmers for their crops, and not half the crop has been marketed, moreover other buyers are at work in this territory. The tobacco industry is a godsend to the people, especially the tenant, because he can rent a farm, plant a few acres in tobacco and with this pay his rent, all expenses and still have money left. It therefore practically gives the renter all he can make on the farm."

A dispatch from Green county Tenn., says:

"The tobacco sales here during the past week have been heavy. It is estimated that the Burley crop in this section will amount to a half million pounds, four-fifths of which has been sold. It is estimated that the fire cured tobacco will amount to about the same of which scarcely more than one-fifth has been sold. One farmer realized for the Burley tobacco raised on one acre $400. A large crop of Burley will be planted next year and the crop will probably amount to five million pounds." This report comes from Dickson county, Tenn.

"The projectors of the Dickson Warehouse and Tobacco Company, it is understood, will within the next two weeks of last take the preliminary steps to establish their enterprise here. It is learned also that the company will lease a vast amount of outland in Dickson county and import tobacco growers if a sufficient amount of home labor cannot be obtained to cultivate it. The project, if carried out, will be a big acquisition for not only this town, but for Dickson county as well."

Williamson county, Tenn., is to take up tobacco culture and a special says:

"The development of this county as a tobacco market seems to be an assured fact within the present and coming season, and it is thought this will be one of the best moves possible to make for the citizens of the county and the merchants of the town and county as well. The J. C. Moore warehouse has been leased for the season by the Nashville Tobacco Works, and Mr. Oliver Brittain has been stationed here with an office and warehouse force in charge. Mr. Brittain has been through the county and has purchased between thirty and forty thousand pounds of tobacco, the first load of which was delivered last Saturday, and about 10,000 pounds have been delivered since. The average price of Burley paid has been about 8 cents per pound, and higher grades have reached up as high as 14 cents. It is the intention of those interested to encourage the raising of this staple in the county and to end will distribute seed to the farmers."

The Big Regie Sale.

The big sale of Association tobacco to Regie buyers the week before Christmas amounted to about 2,500 hogheads. About 1400 hogheads of this number were sold at Mayfield and Paducah, while nearly seven hundred were sold at Clarksville to buyers from the Italian contractor, Guthrie, sold 125 hogheads and Princeton 113.

The Tobacco Planter Says:

The total number of pounds of tobacco was nearly 4,000,000 and with the prospects ahead for other big sales in the near future it seems that the clouds are fast rolling away and that the future of the Planter's Protective Association is indeed, a bright one. The Imperial deal has by no means fallen through, and all reports that it has are based solely on the fact that the transaction is one involving long delay in the examination of samples at widely separated salesrooms. There is every prospect that the sale will be made.

An Observatory For the Public

The only public observatory in the world is at Zurich, Switzerland. It is open every evening to the public and during the past six months was visited by no fewer than 23,000 people.

The telescope, which is mounted in a wooden frame and hangs from a beam, is seventeen feet six inches long and is weight fourteen tons. Its object glass is twelve inches in diameter. Attached to the instrument is a protecting screen, upon which objects in the heavens are thrown for the benefit of those waiting to get a peep through the telescope itself.—Popular Mechanics.

See Your Heart Beat.

It may be comforting or otherwise to a man to have a cinematograph reproduced of his heart beating, but can he say if he wishes, thanks to a Dutchman's cleverness. This is how it is worked: First find your heart. Place against it a stethoscope. This will intensify the beating and move an oscillator. This in its turn has its own photographic camera on a tripod and when it is applied to a witness' ear it would be impossible to tell what he said. It is a matter of course that the jury could see what was going on when the cross examination became very hot.—Modern Society.

The Tallest Actress.

The distinction of being the tallest actress in the world is held by Miss La Belle, star of the new Drury Lane drama. She stands six feet one and one-half inches in her stockings. It seems somewhat incongruous that she should wear high heels, her heel brushed high over a person's right foot in order to give a greater impression of height. However, whatever she does is real to realize the description of being six feet four inches in height, in accordance with the design of the authors.—London Tit-Tits.

"A very pretty American girl was talking one evening in London to one of these urns.

"'And what?' she said playfully.

"'No,' said the girl, 'Still I game enough for a bit of spooning, if that's what you're after.'"

Training.

"My dear," remonstrated Mr. Jawpack, "why do you make such a fuss when our daughter asks you for a little money that she really needs?" "My dear," responded Mrs. Jawback, "I'm training her. She's going to be married soon, and she should be prepared for the kind of thing I have to go through every day." The silence was oppressive.

LABOR LEADERS SENT TO JAIL

President Gompers Must Serve a Sentence of One Year.

IN THE CONTEMPT CASE

Secretary Morrison, of the Federation of Labor, Giving Lowest Sentence.

The famous contempt case of the Buck's Stove and Range Company against President Gompers, Vice President Mitchell and Secretary Morrison, of the American Federation of Labor, was decided Dec. 23 by Justice Wright, of the supreme court of the District of Columbia, adversely to the federation officials. Gompers was sentenced to twelve months' imprisonment, Mitchell to nine months and Morrison to six months.

The case grew out of the alleged boycott of the company's products and the putting of the company on the unfair list, and the federation's alleged violation of Judge Gould's recent mandamus has attracted wide attention.
